

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

This book is designed primarily to prepare pupils in a thorough fashion to read Caesar's Gallic War. It contains seventy lessons, including ten that are devoted exclusively to reading, and six supplementary lessons. The first seventy lessons contain the minimum of what a pupil should know before he is ready to read Latin with any degree of intelligence and satisfaction. The supplementary lessons deal largely with certain principles of syntax that some teachers may not wish to present to their pupils during the first year's work. They are independent of one another and of the rest of the book, and may, therefore, be taken up in any order that the teacher wishes, or any number of them may be omitted.

It is hoped that the following features will commend themselves to teachers of first year Latin:

- 1. Carefully selected vocabularies, containing with a very few exceptions only those words that occur with the greatest frequency in Caesar's Gallic War. About five hundred words are presented in the first seventy lessons.
- 2. The constant comparison of English and Latin usage. Not much knowledge of English grammar on the part of the pupil is taken for granted. The more difficult constructions are first considered from the English point of view.
- 3. A more logical and consecutive treatment of topics. Nouns, adjectives, pronouns, and verbs are not treated in a piecemeal fashion, but four or five consecutive lessons are devoted to a topic before passing on to another. Sufficient change, however, is introduced to avoid monotony.
- 4. A brief preparatory course. Allowing ample time for reviews, the first seventy lessons should be thoroughly mastered in about twenty-five weeks.
- 5. The Review Exercises under each lesson. These employ the vocabulary and constructions of the preceding lessons, and afford additional practice for those who wish it. They may be omitted, however, if desired, as the regular Exercises also review preceding constructions.

6. Carefully graded material for reading. There are selections from Viri Romae and the first twenty chapters of Caesar's Gallic War, Book II, in simplified form. This should prepare a pupil to begin to read the regular text of Caesar at the beginning of the second year.

I wish to express my grateful acknowledgments to the following well-known teachers of Latin who have read the manuscript of this book, and have rendered valuable assistance by their suggestions and criticisms: Mr. H. F. Towle, Curtis High School, New York City; Mr. A. L. Hodges, Wadleigh High School, New York City; Mr. A. J. Inglis, Horace Mann High School, New York City; Mr. Herbert T. Rich, Boston Latin School. This book has had the benefit of the criticism of Professor M. H. Morgan of Harvard University, one of the editors of the series, who has carefully read both the manuscript and the proof.

HENRY CARR PEARSON.

NEW YORK CITY, January, 1905.

PREFACE TO THE REVISED EDITION

The present revision embodies some of the suggestions received from time to time from teachers who have used the Essentials. It has been undertaken, not to change the character or plan of the work, but solely to introduce such simplifications and amplifications as will make it still more helpful to the beginner. The statement of rules has in a number of instances been modified; a different arrangement has been given to the conjugations in the appendix; the introduction has been made somewhat fuller; and the order of Lessons 38 and 39 has been changed. In other respects the changes are internal and do not affect the method, scope, or paging.

All the changes made in this edition have been scrutinized and approved by Professor Charles Knapp of Columbia University, to whose keen scholarship and valuable aid the author is deeply indebted.

June, 1918. H. C. P.

SCALE OF MILES

INTRODUCTION

1. These introductory sections should be read by the pupils and used for reference. Pupils learn pronunciation quickly by imitation. It is suggested that the teacher pronounce slowly the words in sections 9 and 21, and that the pupils repeat them after the teacher. Reference may be made to the rules as mistakes are made.

ALPHABET

- 2. The Latin alphabet is the same as the English, except that it has no j or w. I is used both as a vowel and as a consonant. It is a consonant when it stands before a vowel in the same syllable, as in innor.
- 3. The vowels are a, e, i, o, u. The other letters are consonants.
- 4. Diphthongs are combinations of two vowels that are pronounced as one sound. They are ae oe au eu ui

PRONUNCIATION

- 5. The long vowels are pronounced as follows:
 - ā like a in father.

I like i in machine.

ē like e in prey.

ō like o in note.

ū like oo in root.

- 6. The short vowels are pronounced as follows:
 - a like the first a in ahd.

i like i in pit.

e like e in step.

o like o in or.

u like u in pull.

- 7. Most of the consonants are pronounced as in English. But note the following points:
- c and g are always hard, as in come and go.
- i consonant is like y in yes. t is always hard, as in tin.
- v is like w in wine.
- s is a hissing sound, as in sin; never like z as in ease.
- ch is like ch in chorus.

 ph is like ph in alphabet.
- qu is almost like kw.
- 8. The diphthongs are pronounced as follows:
 - ae like ai in aisle.
 - oe like oi in toil.
 - ui is almost like we.
- au like ou in house.
- eu (rare) like éh-oo.
- ei (rare) like ei in eight.
- 9. Pronounce carefully the following words:

iam tot mē hī genus cui -que vīs sic $\mathbf{a}\mathbf{d}$ quia coepit vir aeger ita auis haec causa rēgnō mēnsae

Syllables

- ro. A syllable consists of a vowel or diphthong alone or with one or more consonants, preceding or following. Therefore a word has as many syllables as it has separate vowels or diphthongs: ae-di-fi-co, I build.
- 11. Except in compound words (see 13), a single consonant between vowels or diphthongs should be joined with the second vowel: a-mi-cus, friend, di-xit, he said.
- 12. If two or more consonants occur between vowels or diphthongs, the division is before the last consonant, except that 1 or r with the consonant immediately preceding is joined to the second vowel: hós-pes, guest, dictus, said, sánc-tus, holy, cás-tra, camp, dē-móns-trō, I point out, cōg-nós-cō, I recognize, pú-bli-cus, public.
- 13. Compound words are divided into their component parts: ád-est (ad, near; est, he is), he is present.

- 14. Doubled consonants are separated: pu-él-la, girl.
- 15. The last syllable of a word is called the ultima; the next to the last, the penult; the one before the penult, the antepenult.

QUANTITY

- 16. Vowels are long (-) or short (~). The long vowels are marked in this book; unmarked vowels must be considered short. Diphthongs are long.
- 17. The following are a few general rules for determining the quantity of vowels:
- I. A vowel is short before another vowel or h: có-pĭ-a, abundance.
- 2. Vowels resulting from contraction are long: có-gō (cŏagō), I collect.
- Vowels are long before nf, ns, nct, ncs: Inferō, I bring in; Insānus, mad.
- 4. Diphthongs are long: causa, cause.
- 18. A syllable containing a long vowel or a diphthong is long by nature: 18-ges, laws; ae-des, temple.
- 19. A syllable containing a short vowel followed by two or more consonants, or by x or z, is long by position. The short vowel, however, is still pronounced short: vocant, they call; dux, leader.

ACCENT

- 20. The following principles determine what syllable of a word receives the stress of the voice (accent):
- 1. The ultima, or last syllable, is never accented.
- 2. Words of two syllables accent the first, or penult; témplum, temple.

- 3 Words of more than two syllables accent the penult when it is long, by nature or position, otherwise the antepenult: amáre, to love; mittere, to send.
- 4. Certain words like -ne, the sign of a question, and -que, and, cailed enclitics, are so closely joined to the preceding word that they are pronounced with it; the last syllable of the first word has an accent: amátne, does he love? hóminésque, and the men.

EXERCISE

21. Divide into syllables, accent, and pronounce the following words:

inīquus	vincam	aedificium	gladiō
grātiae	fīlius	coepērunt	cuius
huic	Idem	fīliusque	quae
monēre	vērō	mēnsārum	faciēbam
facere	aegritūdō	pugnābō	laudābimus

INFLECTION

- 22. Parts of Speech.—These are the same in Latin as in English, except that there is no article in Latin: namely, noun, adjective, pronoun, verb, adverb, and the particles.
- 23. Inflection. This is the change that words undergo to show their grammatical relations to the rest of the sentence. The inflection of nouns, adjectives, and pronouns is called declension; that of verbs, ccnjugation.
- 24. Declension. Nouns, pronouns, and adjectives have the following cases, which are shown by means of case endings:
- I. Nominative, which is the case of the subject.
- 2. Genitive. It may generally be rendered by the English possessive, or by the objective with of.

- 3. Dative. This corresponds sometimes to the English objective with the prepositions to or for.
- 4. Accusative, the case of the direct object.
- 5. Vocative, the case of direct address.1
- 6. Ablative. This expresses various adverbial relations corresponding to the English objective with the prepositions from, with, in, by, at, and on.

Nouns in Latin are divided into five declensions, or classes, which are best distinguished from one another by the ending of the genitive singular.

25. Stem and Base. — The stem is the form which gives in a general way the meaning of the word. The final letter of the stem, called the stem characteristic, often disappears or is changed before case endings. It is always found in the genitive plural, except that o of -o-stems is lengthened. The base (that part of the noun which remains unchanged in inflection, and to which the case endings are added directly) is formed by dropping the stem characteristic or by omitting the ending of the genitive singular.

26. Conjugation. — Verbs in Latin have

- 1. Three finite moods, Indicative, Subjunctive, Imperative; also Infinitives, Participles, Supines, Gerunds, and Gerundives.
- 2. Six tenses, Present, Imperfect, Future, Perfect, Pluperfect, Future Perfect.
- 3. Two voices, as in English, Active and Passive.
- 4. Three persons, as in English, First, Second, Third.
- 5. Two numbers, as in English, Singular and Plural.

¹ Except in the singular of nouns in -us of the second declension, the vocative case is like the nominative. It is therefore not given in the paradigms except in the second declension.

GENDER

27. There are three genders, Masculine, Feminine, and Neuter.

In names of persons only, the gender is based, as in English, on sex (Natural Gender). In all other classes of words the gender is determined by the signification of the noun or by the ending of the nominative (Grammatical Gender).

28. General Rules of Gender.

- Nouns denoting males, and names of rivers, winds, and months are masculine: nauta, sailor; Tiberis, the Tiber; Caesar, Caesar; aquilo, north wind; Ianuarius, January.
- 2. Nouns denoting females, and names of countries, towns, and trees are feminine: filia, daughter; Ītalia, Italy; Athēnae, Athens; pirus, pear tree.
- 3. Indeclinable nouns are neuter: nihil, nothing.

LESSON 1

FIRST DECLENSION OR STEMS IN -4-

FEMININE AND MASCULINE NOUNS

29. Nouns of the First Declension are feminine, unless they denote males, and are declined like the following example:

Stem 1 stella. Base 1 stell-.

	SINGULAR	CASE ENDINGS
Nom.	stell a , a star (as subject) 2	-a

FEMININE ADJECTIVES

32. Feminine adjectives of the First Declension are declined like the nouns.

rosa pulchra, pretty rose

Stem rosā- pulchrā-Base ros- pulchr-

SINGULAR

Nom. rosa pulchra, a pretty rose

GEN. rosae pulchrae, of a pretty rose

DAT. rosae pulchrae, to or for a pretty rose

Gen. rosārum pulchrārum, of pretty roses

DAT. rosis pulchris, to or for pretty roses

Acc. rosās pulchrās, pretty roses

ABL. rosis pulchris, from, with, by pretty roses

Observe that the adjective and the noun are in the same case. Notice the position of the Latin adjective with reference to its noun. It does not always precede the noun, as in English. See the remarks on the order of words (82).

Decline together: via lata, the wide road; puella parva, the little girl.

- 33. Examine the following:
 - 1. Rosa pulchra est, the rose is pretty.
 - 2. Rosae pulchrae sunt, the roses are pretty.

Note in these sentences

- a. That the subjects rosa and rosae are in the nominative case.
- b. That the verb is singular, when the subject is singular, and plural, when the subject is plural.
- c. That the predicate adjectives pulchra and pulchrae agree with the subject in number, gender, and case.
 - 34. RULES OF SYNTAX.
- 1. Subject. The subject of a finite verb is always in the nominative case.
- 2. Predicate Agreement. A predicate noun agrees in case with the word to which it refers, a predicate adjective agrees in number, gender, and case.

Observe that the nominative and accusative of neuter nouns are alike, and that the nominative and accusative plural end in -a. This is true of all neuter nouns of all declensions.

- 57. Examine the following:
- 1. Marcus agricola filiae equum dat, Marcus, the farmer, gives (his) daughter a horse. OR gives a horse to (his) daughter.
- 2. Marco amico cibum do, I give Marcus (my) friend food, OR I give food to Marcus, my friend.

Observe in these sentences

- 1. That agricola denotes the same person as Mārcus, and that it tells something about him, and is in the same case. Such a word is called an appositive. Amico has the same relation to Mārco. Compare with 33, c, and note the difference.
- 2. That equum and cibum, being directly affected by the action of their respective verbs, are in the accusative, but that filiae and Mārcō are in the dative case, because they are indirectly affected by the verb.

DECLENSION OF ADJECTIVES. AGREEMENT

62. Adjectives of the first and second declension are declined like nouns of those declensions. As has been seen in 51 and 56, the endings of the masculine and neuter of adjectives are the same as the endings of the nouns of the second declension, and the feminine endings are the same as those of nouns of the first declension (32). The complete declension of bonus, good, is as follows:

		SINGULAR
	Masculine	Feminine	Neuter
Nom.	bon us	bon a	bon um
GEN.	bonī	bonae	bonī

Compare carefully the endings of the nouns and adjectives in these sentences, and notice

- a. That the adjectives are in the same number, gender, and case as the nouns they modify.
- b. That the endings of the nouns and adjectives are not always the same, for adjectives modifying masculine nouns of the first declension must have the masculine endings, which are second declension endings. Which of the above sentences illustrate this?

- 64. Decline together nauta bonus, the good sailor; poculum magnum, the large cup; agricola validus, the strong farmer.

82. Order of Words. — In an English sentence the order of the words is very important, because of the comparatively few inflectional endings. A change in the order may change entirely the meaning of a sentence. For example:

Caesar praises the loyal farmers. The loyal farmers praise Caesar.

In Latin, a change in the order of the words does not usually change the meaning of the sentence, but merely shows the emphasis which the writer wishes to give to a particular word or phrase. For example:

- I. Caesar agricolas fidos laudat, Caesar praises the loyal farmers.
- 2. Caesar fidos agricolas laudat, Cacsar praises the loyal farmers.
- Agricolăs fidos laudat Caesar, Caesar praises the loyal farmers.

The first sentence shows the normal 1 order, and implies no special emphasis on any word, but this order is often changed to express the emphasis the writer wishes to show. In the second sentence fidős is more emphatic than in the first. In the third agricolās fidős and Caesar are emphatic.

83.

REVIEW LIST OF NOUNS OF THE FIRST AND SECOND DECLENSIONS

- 1. Review carefully the meaning, gender, and declension of each noun.
- 2. Recall any English equivalents that the Latin words suggest, viz., vita, vital; nauta, nautical. Also watch for relationship between Latin words, viz., ager, field; agricola, farmer. Do this for new words of succeeding vocabularies.

¹ The normal order of a Latin sentence is (1) subject with modifiers, (2) indirect object with modifiers, (3) direct object with modifiers, (4) adverb, (5) verb. But this normal order very often gives way to considerations of emphasis or clearness.

incola	gladius	agricola	lūna	aedificium
discipulus	vir	patria	porta	frümentum
v īnum	ager	cōpia	fābula	oppidum
sagitta	fēmina	vīta	īnsula	dōnum

LESSON 11

FIRST CONJUGATION. PRINCIPAL PARTS. FORMATION AND CONJUGATION OF THE IMPERFECT AND FUTURE

85. Review 26 and 43. Latin verbs are divided into four classes or conjugations. These conjugations are distinguished by the vowel before the -re of the present infinitive active. Thus:

Conjugation	PRESENT ACTIVE INFINITIVE	Distinguishing Vowel
I.	amāre, to love	ā
II.	monēre, to advise	ē
III.	regere, to rule	e
IV.	audire, to hear	ī

86. The principal parts of the verb are (1) the present indicative active, (2) the present infinitive active, (3) the perfect indicative active, (4) the perfect passive participle. These four forms of a verb must be known, because from them are obtained the stems necessary to the formation of all forms of the verb. These stems are called (1) present stem, (2) perfect stem, (3) participial stem, and are obtained from the principal parts as follows:

PRES. IND.	PRES. INF.	PERF. IND.	PERF. PART.
amō I love	ama re to love present stem	amāv i I have loved perfect stem	amā t us loved participial ste m

Observe

- 1. That the first person of the imperfect is found by adding -bam to the present stem, and the first person of the future by adding -bo to the present stem. Thus: pres. stem amāimperf., amā-bam amō amδ pres. stem amāfut., amā-bō
- 2. That the personal endings are the same as those used in the present tense. See 43.
- 88. Learn the principal parts, and form and conjugate the imperfect and future active of the following verbs:

¹This form is rare. Always use the forms in -ērunt.

- 1. The personal endings of the perfect tense are the same in all the conjugations. Notice that these endings differ from those of the present, imperfect, and future tenses.
- 2. Compare the second and third translations of the perfect with those of the imperfect (87). There is this difference in the use of the two tenses: the perfect denotes an act or state (condition) completed by or at the present time, the imperfect an act or state going on, repeated, or continued in past time.
- 3. Conjugate the perfect of the verbs in 88.
 - 93. Examine the following:
- I. Hastis et sagittis pugnābant, they fought with spears and arrows.
- 2. Equis frümentum portabimus, we shall bring grain bymeans-of horses.

- 2 Observe that the base and stem differ. Contrast 112, 1.

- 3. The following sometimes have the ablative singular both in -I and in -e, though usually in -I: navis, ship; ignis, fire; civis, citizen; turris, tower; finis, end; avis, bird. All neuter -i- stems have the ablative singular in -I. A few nouns sometimes have the accusative singular in -im: turris, turrim, tower.

- 1. Nouns in is and is, having no more syllables in the genitive than in the nominative.
- 2. Neuters in -e, -al, -ar.

READING LESSON

134.

Julius Caesar

Julius Caesar is the greatest character in Roman history. He was great, not merely as a general, but also as an orator and statesman. He was born on the 12th of July, 100 B.C. He belonged to an old, aristocratic family, but at an early age allied himself with the party of the people.

After filling many minor political offices, at the age of forty-one he became consul, and formed a political alliance with Pompey and Crassus, known as the "First Triumvirate." The next year the government of Gaul was assigned to him, and it is the subjugation of this country that he describes in his Commentaries. These Gallic Commentaries have been read in schools for hundreds of years, and they establish conclusively his ability as a writer.

After spending eight years in Gaul, he was ordered by the Senate through the jealousy of Pompey to disband his army. Caesar refused, and, crossing the Rubicon, set out with his army to make himself the master of Rome. In the civil war that followed, Pompey at the head of the senatorial forces was defeated. This left Caesar the master of the government at Rome. As Dictator and Imperator for life he instituted many reforms that show his insight as a statesman. There were many Romans, however, who disliked Caesar's power. A conspiracy was formed, and Caesar was assassinated on March 15, 44 B.C.

135. THE HELVETIAN WAR

The Helvetii were people of Celtic origin who inhabited almost all that region now known as Switzerland.

In the year 58 B.C., incited by ambitious leaders, they decided to leave their homes and seize the more fertile lands to the southwest, lying nearer the Roman province in Gaul. It is to this uprising of the Helvetii that Caesar devotes the first thirty chapters of his first book of Gallic Commentaries. After two battles the Helvetii, being completely subdued by Caesar, were forced to return to their former territories.

The reading lessons that follow are adapted from the first ten chapters of Caesar's account of this Helvetian war.

136. HINTS FOR TRANSLATION

1. Read the passage through several times in Latin, and gather as much of its meaning as possible.

- 2. Try to associate unfamiliar words with some related word that you already know.
- 3. Do not look up the meaning of a new word in the vocabulary until you have used every other means to get its meaning. After you have looked up its meaning, take time to fix it in your memory.
- 4. In trying to get the thought of a passage, follow strictly the Latin order, noticing particularly the endings of the words.
 - 5. Translate into clear and idiomatic English.

LESSON 29

PRESENT INFINITIVE ACTIVE AND PASSIVE. THE INFINITIVE USED AS IN ENGLISH

PRESENT INFINITIVE

	ACTIVE	Passive
First Conj. Second Conj.	amāre, to love monēre, to advise	amā ri , to be loved monē ri , to be advised
Third Conj.	dūcere, to lead capere, to take	dūci, to be led capi, to be taken
Fourth Conj.	audire, to hear	audiri, to be heard

- 1. The present infinitive active of all verbs has appeared as the second principal part of each verb given (86).
- 2. Observe that the present passive is formed from the present active by changing final -e to -I, except in the third conjugation, which changes final -ere to -I.

183. Examine the following:

- I. Maturat milites convocare, he hastens to summon the soldiers.
- 2. Laudārī est grātum, to be praised is pleasant.
- Incolās armārī iubet, he orders the inhabitants to be armed.
- 4. Omnës primi esse cupimus, we all wish to be first.
- 5. Debet interfici, he ought to be killed.
- 6. Fortis esse dicitur, he is said to be brave.
- 7. Filios bonos esse cupimus, we wish our sons to be good.
- a. These examples show that the infinitive in Latin is often used as it is in English.
- b. In 2, the infinitive is subject of est. In 1, 4, 5, 6, the infinitive completes the meaning of the main verb, and is called the complementary infinitive.

c. In 3, observe that incolas, the subject of the infinitive, is accusative. So filios in 7. In 4, note that the predicate adjective primi agrees with the subject of the main verb, cupimus, and is therefore nominative. In 7, the predicate adjective agrees with the subject of the infinitive and is therefore accusative.

184. RULES OF SYNTAX

- 1. Subject of Infinitive. The subject of the infinitive is in the accusative.
- 2. Complementary Infinitive. Verbs signifying to be willing, determine, be able, dare, begin, ccase, be accustomed, ctc., are used with an infinitive (complementary infinitive) without subject accusative, to indicate another action of the subject of the verb of willing, determining, etc.
- 3. Predicate Adjective with Infinitive.— A predicate adjective with a complementary infinitive agrees with the subject of the main verb.

196. Examine the following:

- I. Féminae quas vidémus pulchrae sunt, the women whom we see are beautiful.
- 2. Viros qui in castris sunt laudat, he praises the men that are in the camp.
- 3. Vir cuius equum habebat agricola fuit, the man whose horse he had was a farmer.

- 5. Pilum quo vulnerātus sum longum fuit, the javelin by which I was wounded was a long one.
- 6. Is qui est fortis laudātur, he (one, a man) who is brave is praised.
- a. The relative pronoun refers to some word, and the word to which it refers is called its antecedent; thus the antecedent of quas in I is feminae. Point out the antecedents in the other sentences.
- b. Observe that the relative has the same gender and number as its antecedent, but that its case is not necessarily the same. The case of the relative is determined by its relation to the words of its own clause: for example, in 1, quas is accusative because it is the direct object of vidēmus; in 5, quō is ablative to express the instrument of the verb vulneratus sum. Explain the cases of the other relatives.
- c. In 6, is does not refer to any particular person, but means a man, one. Is is thus commonly used as the antecedent of the relative. This is, in fact, the commonest use of is.
- 197. Rule. Agreement of Relative Pronoun. A relative pronoun agrees with its antecedent in gender and number, but its case depends upon the construction of the clause in which it stands, not upon the case of its antecedent.

- 3. Nostri in castris erant, our men were in camp.
- a. Hic and ille are more emphatic than is (190, a). When a contrast is expressed as in 2, hic means the latter, ille means the former. Ille also sometimes means that well-known, that famous; with this meaning it is commonly placed after its noun. See also 208, I.

Ipse. Iste. IRREGULAR ADJECTIVES. ABLATIVE OF SEPARATION

Acc.	ips um	ips am	ip sum	ips ös	ips ās	ips a
ABL.	ips ō	ips ā	ips ō	ips is	ips is	ips is

- I. Observe that ipse is declined like bonus, except in the genitive and dative singular, where we have the endings -Ius and -I. What other words have had these genitive and dative endings?
- 2. Ipse is a pronoun that gives emphasis to the word with which it agrees, and its translations vary: for example, vir ipse, the man himself; fēmina ipsa, the zwoman herself; proelium ipsum, the battle itself; urbēs ipsae, the cities themselves; etc. It sometimes is best translated in English by even or very. It agrees like an adjective with some noun or pronoun expressed or understood.
 - 208. Like ille (202) decline iste, that, that of yours.
- 1. Hic is the demonstrative of the first person and signifies this (of mine), this (near me), my, mine. Iste points out an object near a second person directly addressed; it means that near you, that in which you are interested, but may be translated fully by that of yours, your. It is, therefore, called the demonstrative of the second person. Ille is called the demonstrative of the third person, and its complete meaning is that (of his or hers), that . . . yonder, yonder.

2. Mention the pronouns that have -Ius in the genitive singular and -I in the dative singular.

209. The following adjectives end in -Ius in the genitive and -I in the dative singular of all genders (except that the genitive of alter ends in -Ius). In all other cases they are declined like adjectives of the first and second declension.

alius, alia, aliud (480), other, another.
alter, altera, alterum, one (of two), the other (of two).
uter, utra, utrum, which (of two)?
uterque, utraque, utrumque, each (of two), both.
neuter, neutra, neutrum, neither (of two).
üllus, ülla, üllum, any.
nüllus, nülla, nüllum, no, none.
sõlus, sõla, sõlum, alone, sole, only.
tõtus, tõta, tõtum, whole, all.
ünus, üna, ünum, one.

210. Examine the following:

- 1. Nostris finibus eos prohibebat, he kept them from our territories.
- 2. Cibo caruerat, he had lacked food.
- 3. Ex ea parte vici discessit, he withdrew from that part of the village.
- a. Observe that the ablatives finibus, cibō, and parte denote the thing from which there is privation or removal, or the thing which is lacking.
- 211. Rule. Ablative of Separation. Verbs meaning to separate, remove, set free, deprive, lack, etc., are often followed by the ablative of the thing from which separation takes place. Ab or ex with the ablative is, however, often used with these verbs, regularly when the separation is literal and physical (not figurative) and the ablative denotes a person. But with cares a preposition is never used.

LESSON 43

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES. ABLATIVE OF COMPARISON

- 256. The degrees of comparison are: positive, comparative, superlative.
- I. The positive is the simple form of the adjective: carus, dcar.
- 1 their. 2 about (with numerals). 3 The present tense is sometimes used instead of a past tense to express the thought with greater vividness. It is called the historical present. 4 From tollo. 5 Acc. of quisque.

- 2. The comparative is formed by adding to the base of the positive, -ior for the masculine and feminine, and -ius for the neuter: carus (base car-), dear, carior, carius, dearer.
- 3. The superlative is formed by adding to the base of the positive, -issimus, -issimum: cārus (base cār-), dear, cārissimus, a, um, dearest.

Positive	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
	M. and F. N.
lātus, a, um (lāt-), wide	lātior, lātius, wider	lāt issimus, a, um, widest •

vēlōx (vēlōc-), swift	vēlōcior, vēlōcius, swifter	vēlōc issimus, a, um, swiftest

257. The superlative is declined like bonus (62). The comparative is declined as follows:

	SINGULAR		PLURAL
	M. and F.	N.	M. and F.	N.
Nom.	lātior	lātius	lātiōr ēs	lātiōr a

ABL.	lātiōr e	lātiōr e	lātiōr ibus	lātiōr ibus

- In what forms does the declension of the comparative differ from that of regular third declension adjectives (155, 161)?
- 258. Compare altus (alt-), high, deep; potens (potent-), powerful; brevis (brev-), short. Decline in the comparative.

259. Examine the following:

- 2. Hic mons altior illo est, franthat.
- 3. Montem altiorem quam illum video, \ I see a mountain
- 4. Montem altiorem illo video, higher than that.

Observe that in I quam is used and ille is nominative, while in 2 quam is omitted and illo is ablative. So in 3 quam is used and illum is accusative, while in 4 quam is omitted and illo is ablative.

The omission of quam is commonest in negative sentences and in relative clauses. Thus, vir quo nemo fortior erat, a man than whom none was (ever) braver.

260. Rule. — Ablative of Comparison. — After comparatives with quam the same case is used after quam as before it. After comparatives without quam the ablative is used.

REVIEW. FORMATION AND COMPARISON OF ADVERBS

278. Compare the following adjectives, giving the English meanings:

turpis	pessimus	.ācrior	minimus
asper	tūtior	īmus	superus
amplus	vēlōx	similis	plūrēs
nōbilis	vetustior	maior	senior

279. Adverbs are formed from adjectives.

 Adjectives of the first and second declension form the adverb by adding -ē to the base.

ADJECTIVE	BASE	Adverb
cārus, dear	cār-	cār ē , dearly
pulcher, beautiful	pulchr-	pulchrē, beautifully
miser, wretched	miser-	miserē, wretchedly

2. Adjectives of the third declension form the adverb by adding -ter to the stem. Stems ending in -nt drop -t.

ADJECTIVE	STEM	Adverb
fortis, brave	forti-	fortiter, bravely
prūdēns, wise	prūdent-	prūdenter, wisely

3. In some adjectives the ablative singular, in others the neuter accusative singular, serves as an adverb:

primus, first	prim ō , at first
multus, much	mult um, much
facilis, casy	facile, easily

280. The comparative of the adverb is the same as the neuter singular of the comparative of the adjective; the superlative of the adverb is formed from the superlative of the adjective by changing final -us to -ē (note one exception below). It is, therefore, necessary to know the comparison of the adjective in order to compare the adverb.

ADJECTIVE	ADVERB	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
cārus	cār ē , dcarly	cār ius	cār issimē
pulcher	pulchrē, beautifully	pulchr ius	pulcher rimē
bonus	ben e , well	mel ius	optim ē
facilis	facile, easily	facil ius	facill imē
ācer	ācri ter , eagerly	ācr ius	ā cer rimē
multus	multum, much	pl ūs	plūrim um
magnus	magnopere, greatly	mag is	maxim ē

Form and compare the adverbs of these adjectives in 278: turpis, amplus, nobilis, pessimus, vēlox, plūrēs.

LESSON 48

PERSONAL AND REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS

284. Learn the forms of the personal and reflexive pronouns with their meanings (486): ego, I; tū, you; suī, of himself, herself, itself.

285. Use of the Personal Pronouns

- The pronoun of the first person is ego, I; of the second person tū, you; of the third person is, ea, id, he, she, it (190, e). They are used in Latin as subjects only to show emphasis or to avoid ambiguity.
- a. Tē vocō, I'm calling you. ("I" is unemphatic, and therefore ego is not used.)
- b. Ego të voco, I (emphatic) am calling you. (Such emphasis

 1 Why is there no preposition? See 237, 3.

 2 Lo. the river Rhone.

might be expressed in English by the translation, "It is I who am calling you.")

c. Ego eum laudo; is me culpat, I praise him; he blames me.

It will be recalled that in the exercises of the preceding lessons the subjects of the verbs, when pronouns, were not expressed. Why is it impossible to omit the personal pronouns as subjects in English as often as in Latin?

286. Use of the Reflexive Pronouns

- -I. A reflexive pronoun is one that refers back to the subject of the clause or sentence in which it stands (see also 428). It is never in the nominative case and so is never subject.
 - S. I. I praise myself PL. We praise ourselves 2. You praise yourself You praise yourselves [He praises himself] 3. She praises herself They praise themselves
 - 2. In Latin the pronouns of the first and second person, ego and tū (except in the nominative case), are used both as personal and reflexive pronouns. There is no special form for the reflexive as in English. In the third person, however, there is a special form for the reflexive, sui, of himself, herself, itself.
 - S. 1. mē laudo, I praise PL. nos laudamus, we praise myself ourselves
 - 2. të laudas, you praise yourself
- yourselves se laudant, they praise

vos laudātis, you praise

- 3. se laudat, he praises himself
- themselves
- -- 3. Review 190. Do not confuse is with sui. Sui regularly refers to the subject of the sentence or clause in which it stands.

- a. Vir se videt, the man sees himself.
- b. Vir eum videt, the man sees him (some one else).
- 4. Review 207, 2. Do not confuse ipse with se. Ipse is not a reflexive, but merely emphasizes the noun to which it belongs. It may be used in any case.
 - a. Vir ipse eum vIdit, the man himself saw him, or the man saw him himself.
 - b. Vir se vidit, the man saw himself.
 - c. Virum ipsum vidimus, we saw the man himself.

287. The preposition cum with the ablative of personal and reflexive pronouns is appended to them; tecum, instead of cum të; nobiscum, instead of cum nobis. So also quibuscum, with whom, instead of cum quibus.

288. Examine the following:

- 1. Ego, qui haec facio, tuus pater sum, I, who do this, am your father.
- 2. Võs, qui haec facitis, mei amici estis, you, who do this, are my friends.

2D PER.	tuus, a, um, your,	vester, vestra, vestrum,
3D Per.	yours suus, a, um, his (own),	your, yours suus, a, um, their (own),
	her (own), its (own)	their

293. Use of the Possessive Adjectives

- They agree in gender, number, and case with the noun to which they belong, and not with the noun to which they refer. They are not used except for emphasis or contrast.
- a. Suum patrem puella vidit, the girl saw her father.
- b. Vestrum amicum vidimus, we saw your (plur.) friend.
- c. Tuas filias vidit, he saw your (sing.) daughters.
- 2. Suus, a, um, is reflexive, and refers to the subject of the verb. When "his," "her," "its," "their," does not refer to the subject, use the genitive of is, eius, his, her, its; eōrum, their; eārum, their (referring to feminine).
- a. Agricola suum equum laudat, the farmer praises his (i.e. his own) horse.
- b. Agricola eius equum laudat, the farmer praises his (some one else's, not the farmer's) horse.
- c. Agricola eorum equos laudat, the farmer praises their horses.
- d. Agricolae suos equos laudant, the farmers praise their (their own) horses.

294. Examine the following:

- I. Magno üsul nostris fuit, it was a great help to our men (literally, it was for a great help to our men).
- 2. Tertiam aciem nostris subsidio misit, he sent the third line as a relief (literally, for a relief) to our men.

Observe that the datives magno usul and subsidio denote the end or purpose, that for which a thing serves. This use of the dative is called the dative of service or purpose.

295. Rule. — Dative of Service or Purpose. — The dative is used with sum and a few other verbs to denote the purpose or end of the act or state expressed by the verb. Commonly there is combined with the dative of purpose another dative denoting the person interested in the purpose or end, or affected by it.

LESSON 50

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS. DESCRIPTIVE ABLATIVE AND . GENITIVE

300. Review 195, 216. Indefinite pronouns are used to indicate that some person or thing is referred to, without indicating just what one. They vary in degree of indefiniteness. Learn the declension of the following indefinite pronouns, carefully distinguishing the meanings (see 490):

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

MASCULINE	FEMININE	NEUTER
quis	qua	quid (quod), somebody, anybody
aliquis	aliqua	aliquid (aliquod), some one
quisquam		quicquam, any one (at all) (no plur.)
quidam	quaedam	quoddam, quiddam, a certain one
quisque	quaeque	quidque, quodque, cach one, every ouc

- 1. The meanings of the neuter would be something, etc.
- 2. Quisquam and quisque are declined like quis.
- 3. In the neuter the quid-forms are used as pronouns, the quod-forms as adjectives.

301. Uses of the Indefinite Pronouns

I. Quis, some one, any one, is never the first word in its clause. It is generally used only after si, nisi, ne, num: si quid his accidit, if anything happens to them.

- 2. Quisque, cach, should be distinguished from omnis, all, every. It is not often used in the plural, and regularly follows the word to which it belongs.
- 3. Quisquam is used chiefly in negative and conditional sentences: nec quisquam hoc facit, and nobody does this.
- 4. Aliquis, some one or other, some one, denotes some one whose identity is unknown: aliquis tibi haec dixit, some one (I do not know who) told you this.
- 5. Quidam denotes some one whose identity is known but is not fully revealed: quidam haec mihi dixit, some one (I know who, but I will not tell) told me this.

302. Examine the following:

- 1. Vir summae virtūtis fuit, \ he was a man of very great
- 2. Vir summā virtūte fuit, \(\) courage.

Observe that the genitive phrase summae virtūtis and the ablative phrase summā virtūte describe the noun vir; and that an adjective modifies the nouns virtūtis and virtūte.

303. Rule. — Descriptive Genitive and Ablative. — The ablative or the genitive of a noun, if itself modified by an adjective or genitive, may be used to describe a person or object. The genitive is less common in this use than the ablative; it occurs chiefly in expressions of measure or number, and in phrases consisting of nouns modified by magnus, maximus, summus, tantus.

PARTICIPLES. FORMS. DECLENSION. MEANINGS

307. The following outline shows how the tenses of the participles may be formed from the stems that are obtained from the principal parts (86):

TENSE	ACTIVE VOICE	Passive Voice
PRESENT	pres. stem + ns 1	wanting
FUTURE	participial stem + ūrus	Gerundive. Pres. stem + ndus 1
PERFECT	wanting	the last one of the principal parts

- 1. Learn the participles, with their meanings, of the model verbs (491-495).
- 2. Participles ending in -ns are declined like adjectives of the third declension (479); those in -us, like bonus (62).
- 308. The participle is a verbal adjective. As a verb, it may govern a case; as an adjective, it agrees with a substantive. The tenses of the participle denote time, not absolutely, as in the indicative mood, but with reference to the time of the verb of the clause in which it stands. The following examples will show how the time of the participle depends upon that of the main verb.

 $^{^1}$ ið verbs have a connecting vowel e before the ending; i.e. audiëns, audiendus.

- I. Video eum id agentem, I see him as (while) he is doing it (literally, him doing it).
- 2. Videbam eum id agentem, I saw him as he was doing it.
- 3. Videbo eum id agentem, I shall see him as he will be doing it.

309. Tenses of the Participle

- I. Present: representing an action as in progress at the time indicated by the tense of the main verb.
- 2. Perfect: representing an action as completed at the time indicated by the tense of the main verb.
- 3. Future: expressing an action that is subsequent to (not yet done at) the time indicated by the tense of the main verb.
- 310. Form all the participles, giving the English meanings, of do, give; video, see; facio, make, do; munio, fortify; eo, go. (500.)
- 311. Participles are used in Latin more extensively than in English. In Latin the participle is used to express ideas that are often expressed in English by a relative clause, by clauses beginning with "when," "after," "since," "although," "while," "if," etc. Study carefully the following examples, which show the various relations that the participle expresses:
- I. Milites missos non culpavit, he did not blame the soldiers who had been sent (lit., the soldiers sent). This use is not common; a relative clause is generally used.
- 2. Videbam eos id agentes, I saw them as (or when) they were doing this.
- 3. Caesar consul factus in Galliam contendit, Caesar, after he had been made consul, hastened into Gaul (literally, Caesar having been made consul, etc.).
- 4. Galli his rebus permoti obsides miserunt, the Gauls, since (or because) they were alarmed by these things, sent hostages (literally, the Gauls having been alarmed, etc.).

- 5. Orgetorix damnatus interficietur, if Orgetorix is condemned, he will be killed (literally, Orgetorix having been condemned will be killed).
- 6. Vulnerātus diū pugnābat, although he had been wounded, he fought for a long time (literally, having been wounded, he fought).
- 7. Multos vicos captos incendit, he captured and burned many villages (literally, he burned many captured villages).

THE PARTICIPLE (CONTINUED). ABLATIVE ABSOLUTE

315. Ablative Absolute. — A noun or a pronoun in the ablative, with a participle agreeing with it, may be used to express any of the ideas mentioned in 311. This construction will be understood best by a careful study of the following examples:

 Caesar, Germānīs victīs, in hīberna vēnit, after the Germans had been conquered, when he had conquered the Germans, after conquering the Germans, having conquered the Germans, now that the Germans had been conquered, the Germans been conquered, Caesar went into winter quarters.

2. Oppido expugnāto, hostēs vincent,

if the town is captured,
by capturing the town,
since the town has been captured,
the town having been
captured,

they will conquer the enemy.

 Nöbis castra münientibus, Galli pervenerunt, while we were fortifying the camp, as we were fortifying the camp, the Gauls arrived. Observe that the ablative absolutes, Germānīs victis, oppido expugnāto, nobis mūnientibus, are translated in a variety of ways. In translating an ablative absolute, one must use judgment in selecting a translation that is consistent with the meaning of the main verb.

Notice that the ablative absolute construction is used only when the participle does not agree with a noun of the main clause (the word "absolute" means that the ablative phrase stands by itself). For example, such a sentence as "When the Gauls had been conquered, they returned home" would be rendered, Galli victi domum rediërunt, and the ablative absolute construction would not be used, because it is possible to make victi agree with Galli, which is the subject of rediërunt.

316. Since the verb sum has no present participle, two substantives, or a substantive or pronoun and an adjective, are sometimes used in the ablative absolute construction.

317. Remember that the Latin perfect participle is passive, there being no perfect active participle. The ablative absolute is often used to supply this lack of a perfect active participle; for example, the sentence "Caesar having done this returned to Rome" cannot be expressed literally in Latin. It must be changed to the passive form, "This having been done, Caesar returned to Rome," and then it may be rendered: hoc facto, Caesar Romam redit.

INFINITIVES. FORMATION AND MEANINGS

322. Review 182, 183, 184, 307. The following outline shows how the tenses of the infinitive may be obtained from the principal parts:

Infinitives

TENSE	ACTIVE VOICE	PASSIVE VOICE
PRESENT	Second one of the principal parts.	Change final e of present infinitive to I, except in third conjugation, which changes final ere to I.
FUTURE	Future active participle and esse.	Supine in -um (which is the same form as accusative singular neuter of perfect passive participle), and iri.
Perfect	Perfect stem + isse.	Perfect passive participle and esse.

¹The relative often stands at the beginning of a sentence where English uses a demonstrative; hence Qui logātī = these ambassadors. ² See 303.

LESSON 55

INDIRECT DISCOURSE. SIMPLE STATEMENTS

327. The words or thoughts of a person may be quoted either directly or indirectly. A direct quotation (i.e. direct discourse) is one which gives the exact words or thoughts of the original speaker or writer. An indirect quotation (i.e. indirect discourse) is one in which instead of the original words or thoughts we have their substance (general sense) stated in the words of another.

The English sentence, "I am present," when quoted directly, is stated thus: "He said, 'I am present.'" When quoted indirectly, it assumes this form: "He said that he was present," or, after a present tense of the verb of saying, "He says that he is present." An indirect statement, then, is generally introduced in English by the word "that," although this may be omitted, as, "He says (that) he is coming."

328. Examine carefully the following:

DIRECT DISCOURSE

INDIRECT DISCOURSE

tu venis, you are coming.

dicit te venire, he says that you are coming, or he says you are coming.

Note

- That the English generally expresses the indirect statement by a clause introduced by "that" (expressed or understood).
- 2. That there is no word in Latin to correspond to the "that" in English.
- 3. That the Latin changes the verb of the direct statement to the infinitive, and changes the case of the subject to the accusative.
- 329. Rule. Indirect Discourse. Simple statements, when quoted indirectly after verbs of saying, knowing, thinking, and perceiving, are expressed by the infinitive with its subject in the accusative.
- 330. Review 308. The tenses of the infinitive do not follow the tense of the introductory verb. Like the tenses of the participle, they merely denote time relative to that of the main verb. The present infinitive describes an action as going on at the time of the main verb, the perfect as completed by (before) that time, the future as not yet begun at that time.

The following examples will show to what tenses of the infinitive the various tenses of the indicative are changed:

TENSE	DIRECT DISCOURSE	INDIRECT DISCOURSE
Present	veniō, I am coming	PRESENT videt me venire, he sees that I am coming PAST vidit me venire, he saw that I was coming
Imperfect	veniëbam, I was	PRESENT audit më vënisse, he hears that I came, or have come
PERFECT PLUPERFECT	I came	audivit më vënisse, he heard that I came, or
Future	veniam, I shall	PRESENT spērat mē ventūrum (esse), he hopes that I shall come PAST spērāvit mē ventūrum (esse), he hoped that I should come

CAUTION. — The subject of the infinitive should never be omitted in Latin.

DEPONENT VERBS. ABLATIVE WITH fitor, fruor, ETC.

333. Deponent verbs have passive forms with active meanings. These passive forms are regular in their formation and inflection, and are classified in four conjugations, like regular verbs. The principal parts are as follows:

		Present Ind.	Present Inf.	Perfect Ind.
IST	Conj.	hortor	hortār i	hortātus sum, I urge, encourage
2 D	Conj.	vereor	verēr i	veritus sum, I fcar
3D	Conj.	sequor	sequi	secūtus sum, I follow

- I. Learn all forms of the indicative, infinitive, and participle of these four model verbs. (503.)

THE SUBJUNCTIVE MOOD. PRESENT TENSE. CLAUSES OF PURPOSE

348. Learn the present tense, active and passive, of the subjunctive of the model verbs of the four conjugations (491-495); of sum (496); of possum (497); of eō (500); of ferō (502); of fiō (501).

No meanings for the subjunctive are given, because the translations vary according to the construction used. These meanings will be understood as the various uses of the subjunctive are taken up in the succeeding lessons.

- Compare carefully the forms of the present subjunctive of the third and fourth conjugations with those of the future indicative.
- 2. Notice that the personal endings are the same as in the indicative.
- 3. The following table will assist in fixing in mind the forms of the first person singular:

PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE

CONJUGATION	I	11	III	IV
ACTIVE	-em	-eam	-am, -iam	-iam
PASSIVE	-er	-ear	-ariar	-iar

349. A sentence consisting of a main (or independent) clause and one or more dependent (or subordinate) clauses is called a complex sentence. In the following examples the dependent verbs are italicized:

When he arrived it was late. He was so tired that he went to sleep. He came that he might see me. The common uses of the subjunctive in dependent clauses are considered in this lesson and those following. Its uses in independent clauses are treated in Lessons 67, 71, 72, 73.

350. Examine the following:

- 1. Romam venit ut suum amicum videat, he comes to Rome that he may see his friend, in order that he may see his friend, in order to see his friend, to see his friend, for the purpose of seeing his friend.
- 2. Vir in urbem fugit në interficiatur, the man flees into the city that he may not be killed, so that he may not be killed, in order not to be killed, lest he be killed.
- a. Observe that the verbs of the dependent clauses ut suum amicum videat and në interficiatur are subjunctive, and that they express the purpose of the action of the main clauses, ut (that) introducing an affirmative and në (that . . . not) a negative clause.
- b. Notice that the purpose clauses may be translated in a variety of ways. Purpose clauses may be translated by the English infinitive, but never use the Latin infinitive to express purpose.
- 351. Rule. Subjunctive of Purpose. Purpose may be expressed by the present or imperfect subjunctive with ut if the purpose clause is affirmative, and by the subjunctive with ne if the purpose clause is negative.

4 352. Review the principal parts and meanings of:

cōnficiō	dēdō	accēdō	profictscor	ferð
committō	reddō	potior	ūtor	persu ādeō
convertō	redeō	sequor	cadō	noceō
cohortor	r e dūcō	sciō	tollō	scrībō
agō	reperiō	trādō	obsideō	arbitro r
crēdō	lacessō	pellō	Instruō	fīō

- 2. Flümen tam lätum fuit ut Galli tränsire non possent, the river was so wide that the Gauls could not cross.
- 3. Nostri tam fortiter pugnābant ut hostēs sē reciperent, our men fought so bravely that the enemy retreated.
- 4. Tam graviter vulnerati erant ut pugnare non possent, they had been so severely wounded that they could not fight.
- a. Observe that the above clauses beginning with ut express the result, and that the verbs are subjunctive.
- b. Observe that when the main verb is present tense the dependent subjunctive is present tense, and that when the main verb is either imperfect, perfect, or pluperfect (i.e. any tense expressing past time), the dependent subjunctive is imperfect.
- c. Observe that the tense of the subjunctive is not necessarily the same as that of the main verb.

These principles (b, c) are true also for purpose clauses.

358. Rule. — Subjunctive of Result. — Result is usually expressed by the subjunctive with ut if the result clause is affirmative, and by the subjunctive with ut non if the result clause is negative.

mūn īre	münīre m	mūnīre r
monēr e	monēre m	monēre r

- Learn the imperfect subjunctive, active and passive, of the four model verbs (491-495); of sum (496); of possum (497); of eō (500); of ferō (502).
- 356. Notice carefully the difference between a purpose and a result clause. A result clause expresses the result or outcome of the action of the main verb. Observe the difference as shown in these examples:

They shouted (so) that he might hear. (Purpose.)
They shouted so that he heard. (Result.)
He was so tired that he could not go. (Result.)

Some word or phrase like so, such, in such a way, etc., is often used in the main clause to show that a result clause may be expected to follow.

- 357. Examine the following:
- Flümen tam lätum est ut Galli tränsire nön possint, the river is so wide that the Gauls cannot cross.

- 2. Flümen tam lätum fuit ut Galli tränsire non possent, the river was so wide that the Gauls could not cross.
- 3. Nostri tam fortiter pugnābant ut hostēs sē reciperent, our men fought so bravely that the enemy retreated.
- 4. Tam graviter vulnerati erant ut pugnare non possent, they had been so severely wounded that they could not fight.
- a. Observe that the above clauses beginning with ut express the result, and that the verbs are subjunctive.
- b. Observe that when the main verb is present tense the dependent subjunctive is present tense, and that when the main verb is either imperfect, perfect, or pluperfect (i.e. any tense expressing past time), the dependent subjunctive is imperfect.
- c. Observe that the tense of the subjunctive is not necessarily the same as that of the main verb.

These principles (b, c) are true also for purpose clauses.

358. Rule. — Subjunctive of Result. — Result is usually expressed by the subjunctive with ut if the result clause is affirmative, and by the subjunctive with ut non if the result clause is negative.

Observe that nolo is a compound of non and volo, and malo a compound of magis, more (shortened to ma), and volo. Note the irregularities in the present tense of the indicative, subjunctive, and infinitive.

363. Examine the following:

- Princeps lēgātōs misit ut pācem peterent, 2. Princeps lēgātōs misit qui pācem peterent, ask for peace.

The English translation of these sentences is the same, and the verbs of the purpose clauses are subjunctive. In 2, however, qui is used instead of ut to emphasize the ambassadors as the persons who have the purpose to perform.

364. Rule. — Relative Clause of Purpose. — Purpose may be expressed by a relative clause in the subjunctive, especially after verbs of motion.

LESSON 62

SEQUENCE OF TENSES. INDIRECT QUESTIONS

368. Learn the perfect and pluperfect subjunctive of the model verbs (491-495); of sum (496); of eō (500); of ferō (502); of possum (497); of fiō (501); of volō, nōlō, mālō (499).

Observe that the first person of the perfect active subjunctive of all verbs may be found by adding erim to the perfect stem; that the pluperfect active subjunctive may be found by adding the personal endings to the perfect active infinitive; that the perfect and pluperfect passive subjunctive are compound forms, like the same tenses of the indicative.

369. Examine the following:

DIRECT QUESTION

INDIRECT QUESTION

Ubi sunt? where are they? Ouid facit? what is he doing? Scio ubi sint, I know where they are.

Vidimus quid faceret, we saw what he was doing.

Observe that when a direct question is asked indirectly, depending upon some introductory verb, the verb of the original direct question becomes subjunctive in the indirect.

1 See 311, 6; 315.

CAUTION. — Do not confuse an indirect question with an indirect statement (327). Indirect questions may be recognized by the fact that some interrogative word follows the main or introductory verb.

INDIRECT QUESTION

INDIRECT STATEMENT

Sciō quis veniat,

I know who is coming.

Scio eum venire,

I know (that) he is coming.

370. Rule. — Indirect Question. — The verb of an indirect question is in the subjunctive.

371. It has been noticed in the three preceding lessons that the tense of a dependent subjunctive depends upon the tense of the verb of the main clause. This use of the tenses follows a principle called the Sequence of Tenses, a principle that is familiar from English usage. Compare:

He comes that I may see him. He came that I might see him.

The change from may to might accompanies the change of the main verb from comes to came. This change of tenses, therefore, is not peculiar to Latin.

372. All tenses are divided into two classes, as follows:

Primary or principal tenses, denoting present or future time.

Present Indicative,
Perfect Indicative, sometimes, when it means have,
Future Indicative,
Future Perfect Indicative,
Present Subjunctive,
Perfect Subjunctive.

Secondary or historical tenses, denoting past time.

Imperfect Indicative, Perfect Indicative, Pluperfect Indicative, Imperfect Subjunctive, Pluperfect Subjunctive.

373. Examine the following:

Videt, he sees,
Videbit, he will see,
Viderit, he will have seen,

Videt, he sees,
Videbit, he will see,
Videbit, he will see,
Viderit, he will have seen,

Videtat, he was seeing,
Vidit, he saw,
Viderat, he had seen,

Videtat, he had seen,

Quid faciam, what I am doing.

Quid facerim, what I have done (or did).

Videbat, he was seeing,
Vidit, he saw,
Viderat, he had seen,

quid fēcissem, what I had done (or did).

Observe what tenses of the subjunctive follow primary tenses of the indicative, and what tenses follow secondary.

374. Rule. — Sequence of Tenses. — Whenever the subjunctive is used in a dependent or subordinate clause, the tense that should be used is determined commonly by the following rule:

A primary tense in the main clause is followed by a primary tense in the dependent subjunctive clause; a secondary tense in the main clause is followed by a secondary tense in the dependent subjunctive clause.

I. Sometimes the perfect indicative, when it means lave, has, . . ., is followed by a primary tense.

LESSON 63

SUBSTANTIVE CLAUSES

378. A substantive clause is one that is used as a noun. Its use as subject or object of a verb is most common. In the following English examples the substantive clauses are italicized:

I know what he has done.	(As object.)
I know (that) he has come.	(As object.)
It happened that he was present.	(As subject, or in apposition with subject.)
He persuaded us to leave the city.	(As object.)
We feared that he might die.	(As object.)
I do not doubt that he will go.	(As object.)
He ordered us to leave the city.	(As object.)

It will be observed from these examples that substantive clauses are expressed in English in several ways. In Latin substantive clauses are usually expressed either by the infinitive or by the subjunctive. This use of the infinitive in indirect discourse and as complementary infinitive, and of the subjunctive in indirect questions, we have already considered.

379. Subjunctive clauses introduced by ut or ne are very often used in Latin as the object of verbs signifying to ask, command, advise, resolve, urge, persuade, permit, strive, decree. As an infinitive phrase is used in English as the object of such verbs, while ut or ne and the subjunctive is used in Latin, this difference in usage must be carefully noted.

EXAMPLES

- I. Helvētiis persuäsit ut exirent, he persuaded the Helvetii to leave.
- 2. Suls imperat në id faciant, he orders his men not to do this.
- 3. Milites cohortatur ut impetum sustineant, he urges the soldiers to sustain the attack.
- 4. Të rogo ut mihi crëdas, I ask you to believe me.
- 380. The following are the most common verbs of the classes mentioned in 379. Their meanings and principal parts should be carefully learned:

persuādeō, ēre, persuāsī, persuāsum, persuade.
imperō, āre, āvī, ātum, order, command.
mandō, āre, āvī, ātus, order, command.
rogō, āre, āvī, ātus, ask, beg.
postulō, āre, āvī, ātus, demand, ask.
moneō, ēre, monuī, monitus, advise, warn.
petō, ere, petīvī (ii), petītus, ask, request.
quaerō, ere, quaesīvī, quaesītus, inquire, ask.
cohortor (and hortor), ārī, ātus sum, encourage, urge.
permittō, ere, permīsī, permissum, permit, allow.
concēdō, ere, concessī, concessum, permit, allow.

I. The following are exceptions to the above, and are followed by the infinitive, as in English:

iubeo, ēre, iussī, iussus, order, command. veto, āre, vetuī, vetitus, forbid.

 The following are followed either by (1) the infinitive, or (2) ut or nē and the subjunctive. Yet the infinitive is more common.

patior, pati, passus sum, suffer, allow. constituo, ere, constitui, constituitus, determine. cupio, ere, cupivi, cupitus, desire. volo (also nolo and malo), velle, volui, wish.

LESSON 65

- OBJECT CLAUSES AFTER VERBS OF FEARING. Cum
 TEMPORAL, CAUSAL, AND CONCESSIVE
 - 384. Examine the following:
- I. Timeo ne hoc faciat, I fear that he will do this (or I fear that he is doing this).
- 2. Timebam ut hoc faceret, I feared that he would not do this.

 Observe
- a. That the clauses ne hoc faciat and ut hoc faceret are the object of the main verb.
- b. That we translate the ne clause affirmatively (that, etc.), and the ut clause negatively (that not, etc.).
- 385. Rule. Subjunctive with Verbs of Fearing. The subjunctive with ne, that, or ut, that not, is used as the object of verbs or expressions of fearing.
 - 386. Examine the following:
- 1. Cum Caesar in Galliam venit, when Caesar came into Gaul.
- 2. Cum Caesar in Gallia esset, when Caesar was in Gaul.
- 3. Cum Caesari id nüntiätum esset, when this had been reported to Caesar.
- ¹ eo deprecatore, by his mediation (literally, he (being) an intercessor; ablative absolute). ² Do not confuse this verb with impero.

- 4. Cum his persuadere non possent, legatos miserunt, since they could not persuade them, they sent ambassadors.
- 5. Cum primi ordines concidissent, reliqui tamen resistebant, although the first ranks had fallen, still the others resisted.

Cum, meaning when (cum temporal, sentences 1, 2, 3), is used with the indicative if the verb of its clause refers to present or future time. Cum, meaning when, after, is commonly used with the subjunctive, if the verb of its clause refers to past time, but the indicative is sometimes used to point out clearly the exact time at which the main action took place (cum then = quō tempore). Cum, meaning since or as, is called cum causal, and the verb is subjunctive (sentence 4). Cum, meaning although, is called cum concessive, and the verb is subjunctive (sentence 5). The student will be able to infer from the meaning of the whole sentence which of the three translations cum should have in a given case. What must it mean with the indicative?

- 387. Rule. Cum clauses. I. In a cum clause expressing time, the verb is, if present or future, in the indicative; if the verb is past, it is usually subjunctive if the tense used is imperfect or pluperfect; otherwise, the indicative is used.
- 2. In a cum clause expressing cause or concession, the verb is subjunctive.

LESSON 66

COMPOUNDS OF sum. DATIVE AFTER COMPOUND VERBS

- 391. Review possum (274). The verb sum is often compounded with the prepositions ab, ad, de, in, inter, ob, prae, pro (prod), super. Review the meanings of these prepositions from the general vocabulary. In the compound prosum, I benefit, prod, not pro, is found before e. Learn the conjugation of prosum (498).
- 392. Learn the principal parts and meanings of the following compounds of sum:

absum, abesse, āfui, —, be away, be absent.

adsum, adesse, adfui, —, be present, aid.

dēsum, deesse, dēfui, —, be lacking, fail.

obsum, obesse, obfui, —, be against, injure.

praesum, praeesse, praefui, —, be at the head of, command.

prōsum, prōdesse, prōfui, —, be of use to, benefit.

393. Examine the following:

Observe that these compound verbs govern the dative case. If a verb is transitive, as in 4, it may take both an accusative and a dative.

394. Rule. — Dative with Compound Verbs. — Many verbs compounded with ad, ante, con, in, inter, ob, post, prae, pro, sub, and super often govern the dative.

395.

1 more. 2 if . . . general: see 316.

Observe that the present active imperative singular has the same form as the present stem (86), and that the present passive imperative, singular and plural, have the same forms as the second person singular in -re and the second person plural of the present indicative passive.

The present active imperatives of dicō, dūcō, faciō, and ferō are dic, dūc, fac, fer.

Give the imperative forms in the second person of gerō, videō, dīcō, mūniō, capiō, sequor, laudō.

399. The imperative, second person, is used to command or order; the subjunctive, in the first and the third persons, is used to exhort or urge. For example:

•	Affirmative		Negative
IST	Per.	laudem, let me	në laudem, let me not praise
2 D	PER.	laudā, praise	nöli laudäre, do not praise
3D	Per.	laudet, let him praise	ne laudet, let him not praise
IST	Per.	laudēmus let us praise	në laudëmus, let us not praise
2D	Per.	laudāte, praise	nolite laudare, do not praise
			në laudent, let them not praise

Observe that the negative used with the subjunctive is nē, but that nē is not used with the imperative; instead noll or nollte (pres. imperative of nolo, be unwilling) is used with the infinitive. Do not use nē or non with the imperative to express a negative command.

LESSON 68

GERUND AND GERUNDIVE

403. Carefully distinguish the difference in English between a verbal noun and a verbal adjective. They both end in -ing, the verbal noun being used like a noun in any of the cases, and the verbal adjective, or participle, like an adjective, always in agreement with some word. Both have the force of a verb, and may therefore take an object. Compare these examples:

I found my friends waiting for me. (Participle, or verbal adjective.)

Waiting is tedious. (Verbal noun, subject of "is.") We learn to do by doing. (Verbal noun.)

404. In Latin, the gerund is a verbal noun. It has only the genitive, dative, accusative, and ablative cases, the nominative case being supplied by the infinitive. gender is neuter. The gerundive is a verbal adjective (see 308), and is passive in its meaning.

405. Learn the gerunds and gerundives of the model verbs (491-495). Note that they are formed from the present stem.

406. Examine the following:

[Videre est credere, seeing is believing (infinitive as subject).

Ars vivendi (gerund), the art of living.

GEN.

Vēnit amicorum videndorum causa (gerundive), he came to see his friends (for the sake of seeing his friends).

DAT. Vix his rebus administrandis tempus dabātur (gerundive), time was hardly given for managing these things.

Venit ad pugnandum (gerund), he came to fight

(for fighting, or for the purpose of fighting).

Venit ad amicos videndos (gerundive), he came to see his friends (for the purpose of seeing his friends).

ABL. Mens discendo alitur (gerund), the mind is strengthened by learning.

Conlocuti sunt de consilis faciendis (gerundive), they conferred about forming plans.

Observe

1. That when the gerundive is used the noun is put in the proper case, and the gerundive agrees with it in gender, number, and case.

¹ The use of the dative of the gerund or gerundive is not very common; ad and the accusative is more common.

- 2. That the gerundive, not the gerund, is generally used when there is an object.
- 3. That purpose may be expressed by ad and the accusative of the gerund or gerundive, and by causa following the genitive of the gerund or gerundive. What other ways are there of expressing purpose?

COMPLETE REVIEW OF VERB FORMS

Note to the Teacher.—As much time should be given to this review of verb forms as the needs of the class require. It is suggested that this review be made by synopsis, and by quick recognition of miscellaneous verb forms both orally and in writing.

410. Review 228 and 352. Review the principal parts and meanings of the following verbs:

SUPPLEMENTARY LESSONS

NOTE TO THE TEACHER. — These lessons are designed to meet the needs of those teachers who wish a more extensive treatment of syntax than has been attempted in the previous lessons. They are so arranged that they may be taken up in connection with the previous lessons, or in any order that the teacher wishes.

LESSON 71

CONDITIONAL SENTENCES. PRESENT AND PAST TIME

413. Conditional sentences are complex sentences. They consist of two clauses, the condition (or protasis) introduced by "if," "if not," "unless," and the conclusion (or apodosis). For example:

If it rains, I shall not go.

If he had not seen me, I should have gone.

You will not do this unless I command you.

Observe that a condition may be expressed in English without using "if," "if not," "unless," by merely placing the subject after the verb in the condition. For example:

Had he not seen me, I should have gone.

- 414. Various classifications of conditional sentences are possible, but for convenience they will be considered as follows:
 - I. Conditions referring to present or past time.
 - 1. Simple.
 - 2. Contrary to Fact.

- II. Conditions referring to future time.
 - 1. Vivid Future.
 - 2. Less Vivid Future.

415.

SIMPLE CONDITION

Examine the following:

- I. SI hoc faciunt, bene est, if they are doing this, it is well.
- 2. SI hoc fecerunt, bene fuit, if they did this, it was well.
- a. Observe that the condition (or protasis) does not imply whether the statement is true or not, i.e. whether "they did this" or not; it merely makes a supposition.
- b. That the present or past tenses of the indicative are used in both condition and conclusion.

416. CONTRARY TO FACT CONDITIONS

Examine the following:

- SI hoc facerent, bene esset, if they were (now) doing this, it would be well.
- 2. SI hoc fecissent, bene fuisset, if they had done this, it would have been well.
- a. Observe that the condition (or protasis) makes a supposition that is obviously contrary to the actual facts of the case; i.e. the first sentence implies that they are not now doing this, and the second sentence, that they had not done this. So too the conclusion (or apodosis) makes a statement contrary to the facts; i.e. the first sentence implies that it is not now well, the second sentence that it was not well.
- b. That the imperfect subjunctive is used in both condition and conclusion, when the time is present, and the pluperfect subjunctive, when the time is past.

417. EXERCISES

(In these and the succeeding exercises, the student should use the general vocabularies whenever it is necessary. But see Hints for Translation, 136.)

- I. I. Sī meus amīcus Rōmae est, laetus sum. 2. Sī Helvētiī ācrius Rōmānīs restitissent, nōn victī essent. 3. Sī adesset, exīre Rōmā parātī essēmus. 4. Laetus fuit pater, sī quis līberōs laudāvit. 5. Caesar, sī accēdere hostēs arbitrātus esset, aciem īnstrūxisset. 6. Plūrēs Gallī occīsī essent, sī nostrī celerius cōnsecūtī essent. 7. Sī imperātor essēs, darēsne proelī committendī sīgnum?
- II. I. If they had been at home, I should have been glad. 2. I am glad, if they are at home. 3. If anything happened, it was reported to the general. 4. That soldier would leave the battle, if he were not a brave man. 5. Who would not have done the same thing, had he been present? 6. If the general commands, the soldiers obey him. 7. If you were in Rome, should you wish to be a soldier?

LESSON 72

CONDITIONAL SENTENCES (CONTINUED). FUTURE TIME

418. Vivid Future Conditions

Examine the following:

- SI hoc facient, bene erit, if they do this (i.e. shall do this), it will be well.
- a. Observe that the condition (or protasis) states a future supposition vividly or strongly (i.e. by using "shall").
- b. That the conclusion (or apodosis) states positively what will be the result, if the condition shall prove to be true.
- c. That the future indicative is used in both condition and conclusion.

i. That the present tense in English may often refer to future time (i.e. "if they do this" means "if they shall do this").

419. Less Vivid Future Conditions

Examine the following:

- SI hoc faciant, bene sit, if they should do this, it would be well.
- a. Observe that the condition (or protasis) here states a future supposition in a less distinct and vivid fashion (i.e. by using "should").
- b. That the conclusion (or apodosis) states less positively, as a mere possibility, what the result would be, should the condition prove to be true.
- c. That the present subjunctive is used in both condition and conclusion.

420. SUMMARY OF CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

- I. Present or Past Time.
- I. Simple. Present or past tenses of the indicative in both parts.
- 2. Contrary to Fact.
 - a. Present time imperfect subjunctive in both parts.
 - b. Past time pluperfect subjunctive in both parts.
 - II. Future Time.
- I. Vivid Future Future 1 indicative in both parts.
- 2. Less Vivid Future Present 1 subjunctive in both parts.
- 421. It has been indicated in 311, 5, 315, 2, and 316 that the condition (or protasis) may be expressed by the participle without the use of sI or nisi. For example:

¹ For the sake of clearness the use of other tenses in the protasis of future conditions is not here treated.

Principes Gallorum victi Romam mittentur, the chiefs of the Gauls, if they are conquered (literally, having been conquered), will be sent to Rome.

422. EXERCISES

- I. I. Sī equitēs consequentur, magnum hostium numerum occīdent. 2. Sī equitēs consequantur, magnum hostium numerum occīdant. 3. Caesare imperātore, numquam terrēbimur. 4. Helvētiī flūmen Rhodanum trānsīssent, nisi Caesar in Galliam contendisset. 5. Obsidēs līberātī domum redeant. 6. Incolae, armīs trāditīs, sēsē dēfendere non poterunt. 7. Sī hostēs flūmen trānseant, nostrī non consequantur.
- II. 1. If we should go to Athens, we should see many beautiful buildings. 2. If we go to Athens, we shall see many beautiful buildings. 3. Had the Helvetii tried to cross the river, Caesar would have attacked them. 4. If Labienus hurries, he will be able to seize the top of the hill. 5. If Caesar should attack that town, the inhabitants would not be able to defend it. 6. If you were in the town, you would be alarmed at Caesar's approach. 7. Who will be afraid, if the town has been well fortified?

LESSON 73

WISHES

423. Wishes may be divided into two classes:

I. Those that refer to the future. For example:

May my friend come!
Would that my friend would come!
O that my friend would come!

Observe that the above expressions are different ways of expressing the same desire.

II. Those that refer to present or past time, and that wish for something which (it is implied) is not or was not attained. They are, therefore, sometimes called hopeless wishes. For example:

O that my friend were here!

I wish (that) my friend were here!

Would that my friend were here!

referring to present time, and implying that he is not here.

O that my friend had been here!
I wish (that) my friend had been here!
Would that my friend had been here!

referring to past time, and implying that he was not here.

424. Examine the following:

- I. (Utinam) meus amicus veniat, may my friend come! (a wish about the future).
- 2. Utinam meus amicus adesset, would that my friend were here! (a wish hopeless in present time, implying that he is not here).
- 3. Utinam meus amicus adfuisset, O that my friend had been here! (a wish hopeless in past time, implying that he was not here).
- a. Observe that the subjunctive is used to express a wish.
- b. That the present (or perfect) subjunctive expresses a wish relating to the future, that the imperfect subjunctive expresses a wish that is hopeless in present time, and the pluperfect a wish hopeless in past time.
- c. That hopeless wishes employ the same mood and tenses as contrary to fact conditions (416).

Utinam is often omitted with the present tense, but is regularly used with the imperfect or pluperfect. The negative is nē.

425 Rule. — Subjunctive in Wishes. — Wishes relating to the future are expressed by the present (or perfect) subjunctive, with or without utinam; wishes hopeless in present time by utinam with the imperfect subjunctive; wishes hopeless in past time by utinam with the pluperfect subjunctive.

426. EXERCISES

- I. 1. Utinam nē Gallī coniūrātionem fēcissent! 2. Mīles ē proelio nē discēdat! 3. Utinam hoc facerent! 4. Helvētiī "Utinam" inquiunt¹ "nē altissimīs montibus continērēmur!" 5. Utinam nē Germānī populo Romāno bellum intulissent! 6. Utinam Romam veniāmus!
- II. 1. May he always obey the general! 2. I wish we had gone to Athens! 3. Would that we were with Caesar in Gaul! 4. O that he had not persuaded me! 5. May we be killed, if we surrender our arms! 6. Would that we were able to go with you!

LESSON 74

INDIRECT DISCOURSE. COMPLEX SENTENCES

427. Review 327-330, 349. When a complex sentence is quoted indirectly, its principal or main verb, if the main clause makes a statement (affirmative or negative),² follows the rule stated in 329. Its dependent verb follows this law:

Each dependent verb becomes subjunctive. Its tense depends upon the tense of the introductory verb of saying, thinking, etc., in accordance with the principle of sequence of tenses (374).

- 428. Pronouns in Indirect Discourse. In changing from direct to indirect discourse, pronouns of the first and second persons are generally changed to pronouns of the third person. The reflexive pronouns refer commonly to the subject of the introductory verb, but sometimes to the subject of the verb of their own clause.
- ¹ Plural of inquit. ² The treatment of main clauses involving command has been purposely excluded from this book.

429. Examine the following:

DIRECT DISCOURSE

INDIRECT DISCOURSE

Present Time

Vir quem video meus amicus est, the man whom I see is my friend.

Dicitvirum quem videat suum amicum esse, he says that the man whom he sees is his friend.

Past Time

Dixit virum quem videret suum amicum esse, he said that the man whom he saw was his friend.

Observe

- a. That the main verb est becomes esse with its subject virum in the accusative.
- b. That the dependent (or subordinate) verb video becomes present subjunctive, videat, when the introductory verb, dicit, is a primary tense, and imperfect subjunctive, videret, when the introductory verb, dixit, is a secondary tense.
- c. That the person of the dependent verb changes to the third person, and that meus becomes suum, because it refers to the subject of the introductory verb.
- 430. Rule. Moods in Indirect Discourse. In indirect discourse the main verbs, if the clauses in which they stand make statements, are in the infinitive with subject accusative, and the subordinate (or dependent) verbs are in the subjunctive.

43I.

EXERCISES

- I. I. Mīlitēs quōs mēcum habuī fortissimī fuērunt.

 2. Dīxit mīlitēs quōs sēcum habuisset fortissimōs fuisse.

 3. Ubi ad nostrum exercitum pervēnimus, Caesar castra mūniēbat.

 4. Dīxērunt Caesarem, ubi ad suum exercitum pervēnissent, castra mūnīvisse.

 5. Caesar dīxit suōs flūmen, quod¹ altissimum esset, trānsīre nōn posse.

 6. Ariovistus Caesarī "Volō" inquit "hīs dē rēbus, quae inter nōs agī² coeptae neque perfectae sunt, agere² tēcum."

 7. Ariovistus Caesarī dīxit sē velle dē eīs rēbus, quae inter eōs agī coeptae neque perfectae essent, agere cum eō.
- II. I. The river that we see is very wide. 2. They said that the river that they saw was very wide. 3. The lieutenant is frightened because the enemy are approaching.
 4. Write 3 indirectly in Latin after audio. 5. When I arrived, I saw my friend. 6. Write 5 indirectly in Latin after dixit. 7. Ariovistus replied that those who have conquered ought to rule 8 those whom they have conquered.

LESSON 75

IMPERSONAL USE OF VERBS. SUPINE. DIFFERENT WAYS OF EXPRESSING PURPOSE

432. Verbs are said to be used impersonally when they do not have a personal subject. This impersonal use is more common in Latin than in English. There are some verbs in Latin that are used only impersonally, while others are used both personally and impersonally.

EXAMPLES

Acriter pugnātum est, the battle was fought sharply, or there was sharp fighting (literally, it was sharply fought).

1 because. 2 ago, treat. 8 impero.

Vos hoc facere oportet, you ought to do this (more literally, it is proper that you do this).

Vobis hoc facere licet, you may do this (literally, it is permitted to you to do this).

433. The supine is a verbal noun of the fourth declension, and has forms only in -um and -ū. These forms are used only in the following constructions:

Lēgāti vēnērunt ad Caesarem grātulātum, ambassadors came to congratulate Caesar.

Hoc difficile est factū, this is difficult to do.

The supine in -um is used to express purpose, but only after verbs of motion; the supine in -ū is used with a few adjectives and indeclinable nouns, as ablative of specification.

434. VARIOUS WAYS OF EXPRESSING PURPOSE

Review 351, 364, 406, 3. Are there several ways of expressing purpose in English?

EXAMPLES

Helvētii lēgātōs misērunt	ut pācem peterent, qui pācem peterent, pācis petendae causā, ad pācem petendam, pācem petitum,	the Helvetii sent am- bassadors to seck peace.
Militės mittun-	ad pugnandum,	the soldiers are sent
tur	pugnandi causā,	to fight.

435. Rule. — Supine in -um. — The supine in -um is used to express purpose after verbs of motion.

436. EXERCISES

I. 1. Hoc est mīrābile dictū. 2. Ariovistus respondit, "Tē ad mē venīre oportet." 3. Prīncipēs Gallōrum ad

Caesarem vēnērunt auxilium petītum. 4. Sī volunt, eīs ex oppidō exīre licet. 5. In utram partem 1 flūmen Arar fluat oculīs iūdicārī nōn potest. 6. Helvētiī rogant ut iter per prōvinciam sibi facere liceat. 7. Gallī coniūrātiōnem facere dīcuntur. 8. Gallōs coniūrātiōnem facere nūntius dīcit.

II. 1. He went to Rome to 2 see his daughters. 2. This is easier to say than to do. 3. We ought to obey the general. 4. There is sharp fighting on the right wing. 5. The soldiers may go to Rome. 6. It was reported that the enemy were returning home.

LESSON 76

PERIPHRASTIC CONJUGATIONS

437. The first or active periphrastic conjugation is formed by the future active participle and the verb sum. It is future in its meaning, and expresses the idea conveyed in English by the phrases "about to," "going to," "intend to." For example:

Laudātūrus est, he is about to praise, or is going to praise, or intends to praise.

For all forms of this conjugation, see 504.

It has been noticed that there is no future or future perfect tense in the subjunctive. The subjunctive of the first periphrastic conjugation may be used in their place. For example:

Scio quem visurus sit, I know whom he is going to scc, or whom he will scc.

438. The second or passive periphrastic conjugation is formed by the gerundive and the verb sum. It is passive in its meaning, and expresses the idea of obligation or necessity. For example:

¹ direction. 2 to see his daughters: express in three ways.

Laudandus est, he ought to be praised, or he must be praised (literally, he is to be praised).

For all forms of this conjugation, see 505.

430. Uses of the Passive Periphrastic Conjugation

- I. The person for whom the obligation or necessity exists is expressed by the dative.
- 2. Since the conjugation is passive, all active English sentences must be recast before they are the equivalent literally of this Latin construction. Thus: "I must do this" = "For me this is to be done," id mihi agendum est.
- 3. Intransitive verbs are used impersonally in this conjugation in Latin. Thus: "We ought to come," nobis veniendum est.

EXAMPLES

Urbs est munienda, the city must be fortified.

Nobis fortiter pugnandum est, we ought to (or must) fight bravely (literally, for us it is to be fought bravely).

Caesari omnia erant agenda, Caesar had to do everything (literally, for Caesar everything was to be done).

440. EXERCISES

I. I. Vīsūrī erāmus; amātūra fuit; monitūrae erant.
2. Nōbīs cum Gallīs bellum gerendum est. 3. Incolae oppidī ēruptiōnem erant factūrī. 4. Caesarī omnia ūnō tempore agenda erant; aciēs īnstruenda, sīgnum dandum, mīlitēs ab opere revocandī erant. 5. Sī victūrī sumus, nōbīs fortissimē contendendum erit. 6. Sciēbam quid vōs factūrī essētis. 7. Sciēbam quid vos facerētis. 8. Incolīs quīnque diēs oppidum defendendum fuit.

STORIES FROM ROMAN HISTORY

441. EARLY BOYHOOD OF ROMULUS AND REMUS

Proca, rēx Albānōrum, Numitōrem et Amūlium fīliōs habuit. Numitōrī, quī nātū maior erat, rēgnum relīquit; sed Amūlius, pulsō² frātre, rēgnāvit et Rhēam Silviam, eius fīliam, Vestae sacerdōtem fēcit, quae³ tamen Rōmulum et Remum geminōs ēdidit. Quārē Amūlius ipsam in vincula s coniēcit, parvulōs alveō impositōs⁴ abiēcit in Tiberim, quī tunc forte super rīpās erat effūsus; sed, relābente flūmine, eōs aqua in siccō relīquit. Vāstae tum in iīs locīs sōlitūdinēs erant. Lupa ad vāgītum accurrit, mātremque⁵ sē gessit.

Cum lupa saepius⁶ ad parvulōs velutī ad catulōs reverterētur, Faustulus, pāstor rēgius, rē animadversā eōs tulit in casam et Accae Lārentiae coniugī dedit. Adultī⁷ deinde hī inter pāstōrēs prīmō lūdicrīs⁸ certāminibus vīrēs⁹ auxērunt, deinde vēnandō saltūs peragrāre et latrōnēs ā 15

442. THE FOUNDING OF ROME

Intereā Remum latronēs ad Amūlium rēgem perdūxērunt, eum accūsantēs quasi Numitoris agros Infēstāre solitus esset; itaque Remus ā rēge Numitorī ad supplicium trāditus est; at Numitor, adulēscentis vultum considerāns, haud procul erat quīn nepotem āgnosceret. Nam Remus oris līneāmentīs erat mātrī simillimus aetāsque expositionis temporibus congruēbat. Ea rēs dum Numitoris animum anxium tenet, repente Romulus supervenit, frātrem līberat, avum Numitorem in rēgnum restituit.

Deinde Rōmulus et Remus urbem in iIsdem locīs, ubi expositī ubique ēducātī erant, condidērunt⁸; sed ortā inter eōs contentiōne, uter⁹ nōmen novae urbī daret ¹⁰ eamque regeret, auspicia dēcrēvērunt ¹¹ adhibēre. Remus prior sex vulturēs, Rōmulus posteā duodecim vīdit. Sīc Rōmulus, victor auguriō, urbem Rōmam vocāvit. Ad novae urbis tūtēlam sufficere vāllum vidēbātur. Cuius ¹² angustās inrīdēns cum Remus saltū id trāiēcisset, eum īrātus ¹³ Rōmulus interfēcit, hīs increpāns verbīs: "Sīc ¹⁴ deinde, quīscumque alius trānsiliet moenia mea!" 443. ROMULUS, FIRST KING OF THE ROMANS

War with the Sabines

Rōmulus imāginem urbis magis quam urbem fēcerat; incolae deerant. Erat in 1 proximō lūcus; hunc asylum fēcit. Et statim eō mīra vīs 2 latrōnum pāstōrumque cōnfūgit. Cum vērō uxōrēs ipse populusque nōn habērent, lēgātōs circā vīcīnās gentēs mīsit, quī societātem cōnū-5 biumque novō populō peterent. Nusquam benīgnē audīta lēgātiō est; lūdibrium etiam additum: "Cūr nōn fēminīs quoque asylum aperuistis? Id enim compār foret cōnū-bium." Rōmulus, aegritūdinem animī dissimulāns, lūdōs parat; indīcī deinde fīnitimīs spectāculum iubet. Multī convēnērunt studiō videndae novae urbis, maximē Sabīnī cum līberīs et coniugibus. Ubi spectāculī tempus vēnit eōque conversae mentēs cum oculīs erant, tum sīgnō datō iuvenēs Rōmānī discurrunt, virginēs rapiunt.

Haec fuit statim causa bellī. Sabīnī enim ob virginēs 15 raptās 9 bellum adversus Rōmānōs sūmpsērunt, et cum Rōmae appropīnquārent, Tarpēiam virginem nactī sunt, 10 quae aquam forte extrā moenia petītum 11 ierat. Huius pater Rōmānae praeerat arcī. Titus Tatius, Sabīnōrum dux, Tarpēiae optiōnem mūneris dedit, sī 12 exercitum suum 20 in Capitōlium perdūxisset. Deinde Rōmulus ad certāmen prōcessit, et in eō locō ubi nunc Forum Rōmānum est pugnam cōnseruit. Prīmō impetū vir inter Rōmānōs īnsīgnis, nōmine Hostīlius, fortissimē dīmicāns cecidit; quārē Rōmānī fugere coepērunt. Iam Sabīnī clāmitābant: "Vīcimus perfidōs hospitēs, imbellēs hostēs. Nunc sciunt longē aliud esse virginēs rapere, aliud pugnāre cum virīs." Tunc Rōmulus, arma ad caelum tollēns, Iovī aedem vōvit, et exercitus restiti. Itaque proelium redintegrātur; sed raptae mulierēs ausae sunt sē inter tēla volantia īnferre et, hinc patrēs, hinc virōs ōrantēs, pācem conciliāvērunt.

Tatiō sociāvit. Vērum haud ita multō post, occīsō Tatiō, ad Rōmulum potentātus omnis recidit. Centum deinde ex seniōribus ēlēgit, quōs senātōrēs nōmināvit propter senectūtem. 445. Numa Pompilius, Second King of the Romans (716-673 B C.)

Successit Romulo Numa Pompilius, vir inclutā iūstitiā 1 et religione. Is Curibus,² ex oppido Sabinorum, accītus est. Qui cum Romam vēnisset, ut populum ferum religione mītigāret, sacra plūrima Instituit. Āram Vestae consecrāvit, et ignem in ārā perpetuō alendum 8 virginibus dedit. 5 Flaminem 1 Iovis sacerdotem creavit eumque Insigni veste et curuli sella adornavit. Dicitur quondam ipsum Iovem ē caelo elicuisse. Hīc, ingentibus fulminibus in urbem demissīs, dēscendit in nemus Aventīnum, ubi Numam docuit quibus sacrīs fulmina essent ⁵ procūranda, et praetereā imperi 10 certa pignora populo Romano daturum se esse promisit. Cum Porsena Rōmam obsidēret, Mūcius, vir Rōmānae cōnstantiae, senātum adiit et veniam 8 trānsfugiendī petiit, necem rēgis reprōmittēns. 448. Publius Decius (343 B.c.)

P. Decius, Valerio² Maximo et Cornelio Cosso consulibus, tribūnus mīlitum fuit. Exercitū Romano in angustiīs Gaurī montis clauso Decius ēditum collem conspēxit imminentem hostium castrīs. Acceptō praesidiō verticem⁸ 10 occupāvit, hostēs terruit, consulī spatium dedit ad subdūcendum agmen in aequiorem locum. CAESAR. GALLIC WAR. BOOK II (Adapted)

CHAPTER I

45i. The Belgae form a Confederacy against the Romans

Dum Caesar in Galliā in hībernīs est,¹ omnēs Belgae contrā populum Rōmānum coniūrābant obsidēsque inter² sē dabant. Coniūrandī hae erant causae: prīmum nōlēbant nostrum exercitum ad sē ddūcī, deinde ab nōnnūllīs Gallīs sollicitābantur. Hī populī Rōmānī exercitum hiemāre atque inveterāscere in Galliā nōlēbant. Nōnnūllī mōbilitāte et levitāte animī novīs imperiīs studēbant. Ab nōnnūllīs etiam sollicitābantur, quod in Galliā ā potentibus atque ab iīs quī condūcere hominēs poterant vulgō rēgna coccupābantur, quī minus facile eam rem imperiō nostrō cōnsequī poterant.

452. CAESAR PROCEEDS AGAINST THE BELGAE

Hīs nūntiīs litterīsque commōtus est Caesar. Duās legiōnēs in citeriore 11 Galliā novās conscrīpsit. 12 In interiorem 18 Galliam cum hīs legionibus Quintum Pedium 15 lēgātum mīsit. Ipse paucīs post 14 diebus ad exercitum vēnit. Senonēs, quī fīnitimī Belgīs erant, ea quae apud Belgās geruntur cognoscunt, atque Caesarī omnēs nūntiant manum cogī et exercitum Belgārum in ūnum locum condūcī. Tum vēro Caesar contendit ad eos proficīscī. 15

Eō¹ dē imprōvīsō celeriterque vēnit Caesar. Caesar Rēmõs cohortātus omnem senātum ad sē con-10 venīre prīncipumque līberōs obsidēs ad sē addūcī iussit. Quae omnia ab hīs dīligenter ad 8 diem facta sunt. Ab hīs castrīs oppidum Rēmōrum nōmine Bibrax aberat mīllia passuum octō. Id ex itinere magnō impetū Belgae oppugnāre coepērunt. Aegrē eō diē sustentātum¹ est. Caesar propter multitudinem hostium et propter opinio-5 nem virtūtis proeliō supersedēre statuit, cottīdiē tamen equestribus proeliīs quid 2 hostis virtūte posset et quid nostrī audērent periclitābātur.8 Nostrōs non esse inferiorēs Locus pro castris ad aciem instruendam erat nātūrā idoneus, quod is collis, ubi castra posita erant, pau-10 lulum ex plānitiē ēditus tantum 4 adversus in lātitūdinem patēbat quantum locī acies īnstrūcta occupāre poterat. Ubi neutrī trānseundī initium faciunt, secundiore equitum proelio nostrīs Caesar suos in castra redūxit. Hostes protinus ex eo loco ad flūmen Axonam contendērunt, quod esse post nostra castra dēmonstrātum est. Ibi partem suārum copiārum trādūcere conātī sunt, ut, sī possent, castellum, cui praeerat Quīntus Titūrius lēgātus, expugnārent pontemque interscinderent; sī minus potukissent, ut agros Rēmorum populārentur commeātūque nostros prohibērent.

Caesar omnem equitatum et funditores sagittariosque pontem traducit atque ad eos contendit. Acriter in eo loco pugnatum est. SUMMARY OF RULES OF SYNTAX

Nominative Case. — The subject of a finite verb is always in the nominative case. [34, 1.]

A predicate noun agrees in case with the word to which it refers, a predicate adjective agrees in number, gender, and case. [34, 2.]

Genitive Case. — The genitive is used to limit or define the meaning of a noun. [38.]

The genitive of the whole (partitive genitive), denoting the whole from which a part is (or is not) taken is used with nouns, pronouns, adjectives (except numerals), and adverbs. The part taken is denoted by the noun, pronoun, etc., on which the genitive depends. [251.]

The ablative or the genitive of a noun, if itself modified by an adjective or genitive, may be used to describe a person or object. The genitive is less common in this use than the ablative; it occurs chiefly in expressions of measure or number, and in phrases consisting of nouns modified by magnus, maximus, summus, tantus. [303.]

Dative Case. — The indirect object of a verb is in the dative case. [58, 2.]

The dative is used with adjectives denoting Likeness, Fitness, Nearness, Service, Inclination, and the like, and also with their opposites. [163.]

The dative is used with est, sunt, etc., to denote the possessor, the thing possessed being the subject. [231.]

The dative is used with sum and a few other verbs to denote the purpose or end of the act or state expressed by the verb. Commonly there is combined with the dative of purpose another dative denoting the person interested in the purpose or end, or affected by it. [295.]

Most verbs signifying to favor, help, please, trust, and their contraries; also to believe, persuade, command, obey, serve, resist, envy, threaten, pardon, and spare, take the dative case. [343.]

Many verbs compounded with ad, ante, con, in, inter, ob, post, prae, prō, sub, and super, often govern the dative. [394.]

Accusative Case. — The direct object of a transitive verb is in the accusative case. [46, 2.]

The subject of the infinitive is in the accusative. [184, 1.]

Place to which is expressed by the accusative with ad or in; with names of towns, domus, humus, and rūs, by the accusative without a preposition. [237, 2.]

Extent of time or space is expressed by the accusative. [245.]

Ablative Case. — The means or instrument of an action is expressed by the ablative without a preposition. [94.] Cause is expressed by the ablative, usually without a preposition. [118.]

Time when or within which is expressed by the ablative without a preposition. [131.]

The personal agent with a passive verb is expressed by the ablative with \bar{a} or ab. [142.]

Manner is expressed by the ablative with the preposition cum, but cum may be omitted if an adjective is used with the ablative. [148.]

The ablative of specification tells in what respect the meaning of a verb, noun, or adjective applies. No preposition is used. [157.]

Verbs meaning to separate, remove, set free, deprive, lack, etc., are often followed by the ablative of the thing from which separation takes place. Ab or ex with the ablative is, however, often used with these verbs, regularly when the separation is literal and physical (not figurative) and the ablative denotes a person. But with cared a preposition is never used. [211.]

Place where is expressed by the ablative with in; with names of towns, domus, humus, and rūs, by the ablative without a preposition. [237, 1.]

Place from which is expressed by the ablative with ab, de, or ex; with names of towns, domus, humus, and rus, by the ablative without a preposition. [237, 3.]

After comparatives with quam the same case is used after quam as before it. After comparatives without quam the ablative is used. [260.]

The measure of difference is expressed in connection with the comparative degree by the ablative without a preposition. [267.]

The ablative or the genitive of a noun, if itself modified by an adjective or genitive, may be used to describe a person or object. The genitive is less common in this use than the ablative; it occurs chiefly in expressions of measure or number, and in phrases consisting of nouns modified by magnus, maximus, summus, tantus. [303.]

The ablative is used with the deponent verbs ūtor, fruor, fungor, potior, and vēscor, and their compounds. [337.]

Locative Case. — Place where is expressed by the locative with names of towns, domus, humus, and rūs. [237, 1.]

Agreement. — A predicate noun agrees in case with the word to which it refers, a predicate adjective agrees in number, gender, and case. [34, 2.]

A verb agrees with its subject in number and person. [46, 1.]

An appositive agrees in case with the noun which it limits or explains. [58, 1.]

Adjectives agree with their nouns in gender, number, and case. [65.]

A predicate adjective with a complementary infinitive agrees with the subject of the main verb. [184, 3.]

A relative pronoun agrees with its antecedent in gender and number, but its case depends upon the construction of the clause in which it stands, not upon the case of its antecedent. [197.]

The Subjunctive. — Purpose may be expressed by the present or imperfect subjunctive with nt if the clause is affirmative, and by the subjunctive with nt if the purpose clause is negative. [351.]
